Miranda Lemke Joins TechMix Global Avian Team

Minneapolis, September 12, 2016 – TechMix Global announces the appointment of Miranda Lemke as Quality Control Formulation Manager supporting its Global Avian team.

Most recently Lemke worked in scientific and regulatory affairs for the National Turkey Federation where she audited best management practice guidelines. Prior to that, she served as state program administrator for the Minnesota Board of Animal Health in its Avian Influenza Permitting Section. She also worked as a management trainee at Sparboe Farms where she validated compliance guidelines.

Lemke holds a variety of professional certifications and licenses from the Federal Emergency Management Institute and is an authorized poultry testing agent for the Minnesota Board of Animal Health. She attended the University of Minnesota and holds a B.S. degree in animal science. She also attended the University of Wisconsin's Center of Excellence Scholarship and Internship program and received a Poultry Emphasis Certificate.

"We look forward to Miranda's contributions to our global avian team," said Mike Nelson, TechMix Global president. "Her experience in avian health, compliance issues and permitting will be vital to developing innovative hydration solutions for our partnerships with North American and European poultry growers."
